Solicitors Urged to Work Toward $61,295 Goal

Chest Fund Climbs to $23,974

Salem's Community Chest campaign swung into high gear today with teams of solicitors canvassing their assigned territories in behalf of the 11 "Red Feather" agencies which are dependent on the Chest Fund.

A total of $23,974.50 has been raised toward the $61,295 goal. Because of earlier work, the advance gifts committee reported contributions today amounting to $21,232.50 — an increase of $1,661.50 over the first report made at the Chest "kick-off" meeting Monday night in the Memorial Building.

Robert S. McCulloch Sr., whose preliminary solicitations, along with Mr. Deming, resulted in the $19,571 reported at the opening of the campaign.

Chairman Oswald today instructed team captains to make reports daily to Chest headquarters, even though the reports may be only partial.

He urged all solicitors to make

Longshoremen Blast Demands Of Employers

Hearing In Dock Strike May Bring T-H Court Order

WASHINGTON (AP) — The International Longshoremen's Assn. contended at the start of a Taft-Hartley emergency fact-finding hearing today that employer demands in the dock workers' strike would eliminate jobs wholesale.

The argument was set forth by ILA attorney Louis Waldman in a statement filed with the three-man panel named Tuesday by President Eisenhower. Creation of the board was the first step toward obtaining a back-to-work injunction halting the strike for 30 days of cooling off and bargaining.

The fact-finders were prepared to hear four employer and three union witnesses but hoped to complete the hearing today. This would permit speedy action cutting off the strike—perhaps a fact-finding report Wednesday followed Friday by a U. S. District Court order.

Waldman told the fact-finders the New York Shipping Assn. had served rigorous demands on the union to permit greater automation in cargo handling.

Automation in the past three years has "threatened to deprive ILA members of substantial numbers of jobs and earning opportunities," Waldman said.

In New York the ILA protested the Taft-Hartley action, but a spokesman said "we always obey the government."

Declaring the strike would "imperil the national health and safety," President Eisenhower invoked the Taft-Hartley national emergency provisions Tuesday for the 16th time since the law's enactment in 1947.

He named a three-man fact-finding team headed by Washington attorney Guy Farmer, former chairman of the National Labor Relations Board.

Farmer quickly summoned the ILA and waterfront employers to a hearing today. He told newsmen he expected to complete it today.

That jibed with word from other officials that the administration has fixed a fast timetable for settlement of the stevedores' strike, which could cripple quickly the commerce of the Atlantic Coast.

When the fact-finders' report is received by Eisenhower, he can instruct the attorney general immediately to seek an injunction in U. S. District Court, in New York, Washington or elsewhere.

This would oblige the strikers and employers to resume dock operations while their principals go back to bargaining.

There still was no sign in Washington, however, that Eisenhower plans to move with similar speed to end the 85-day strike of 500,000 steelworkers.

The longshore union is asking a 50-cent hourly pay raise. Basic New York wages under the old contract were $2.80 an hour. The ship lines had offered a 30-cent hourly package increase.

The shippers are demanding more leeway in using automation for cargo handling. The union opposes this, contending it would cut employment.

Fire Causes Damage To Kenneth Apple Home

LISBON — A fire Tuesday night at the home of Kenneth Apple on Rt. 164, about one-half mile south of Lisbon, caused heavy smoke damage. Acting Fire Chief Threlkeld said.

Firemen who were called at 7:40 p.m. said lightning probably caused a short circuit which set off the smoldering fire. The television set and house wiring were damaged, Flanagan said.

Memorial Bldg. Is Community Center

Through Salem's Memorial Building, built for "everyone who wants to use it," recreation is provided for the young, the middle-aged and the elderly of the city.

The Memorial Building and its activities were begun when the center first opened in 1924, and thrived under the able direction of Joseph Kelly, who was manager from 1924 until his death in 1951.

Devotion to the city's young and campaigns to give them better recreational facilities endeared Joe Kelly to the hearts of the people.

The inscription, "He built the youth of Salem," on a bronze plaque in the center's lobby honors Kelly's memory.

The job of helping the youth of Salem fell on the shoulders of C. F. "Rusty" Tomlinson a little over a year ago. Through his guidance the Memorial Building has built up some of the activities previously forgotten. Extensive programs are now being devoted to women and older persons.

The "Senior Citizens," a group of persons 60 or older, meet at the building for a "drop-in" where they have games or just sit around and talk. This program began as a once-a-week affair with 36 persons in attendance. Since this number has grown to 197 and the club now meets two days per week.

In the past year the Senior Citizens took four road trips. On each of these an excursion bus was filled to capacity and several persons who wanted to go had to be turned down. The Memorial Build-

U.S. Secretary Sees No Easing Of Red Tensions

Herter Sums Up Khrushchev's Visit With China's Chief

WASHINGTON (AP) — Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev apparently has run into trouble in his campaign to get Communist China to join in reducing East-West tensions.

Secretary of State Christian A. Herter, summing up his impression of Khrushchev's visit to Peking following his Camp David talks, told newsmen: "I would say that I can see no visible easing of tensions as between Chinese Communists and ourselves."

Herter also suggested the possibility of a split in the foreign policy lines of the Soviet and Red Chinese governments. He noted that Khrushchev had "talked quite eloquently" during his Chinese trip about solving international problems by peaceful means and that Chinese Communist leader Mao Tse-tung "never made any statement at all."

This striking contrast of behavior coupled with the Chinese Reds' continued denunciation of the United States as "imperialist" and "aggressive" seemed to indicate that Khrushchev and the

Six Persons Injured In 2-Car Crash

Five persons in one car and the driver of another auto were injured Tuesday at 2:15 p.m. in a mishap at the intersection of Rts. 14 and 62 near Canfield.

Hurt were: Carl Little, 33, of RD 1, North Lima, driver of one car, who was treated for chest, shoulder and leg injuries; and the driver of the other auto, Leroy Walker, 32, of Canton, who is in fair condition today at Youngstown South Side Hospital with possible fractured shoulder and facial fractures ribs and right knee and a dislocated shoulder.

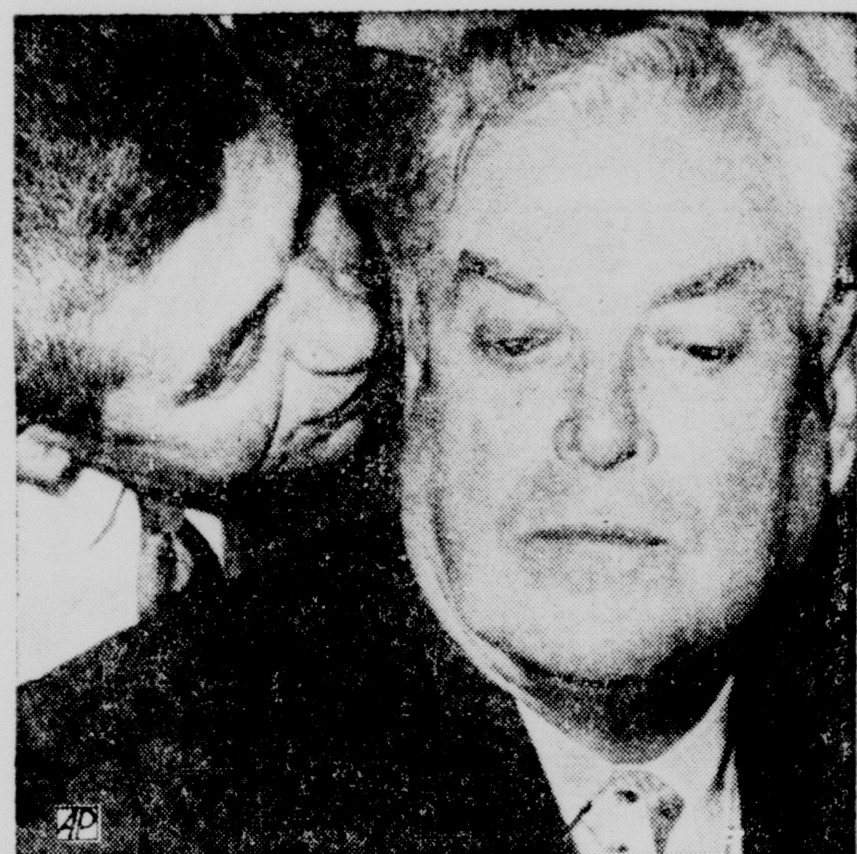

Passengers in the Walker auto sustaining injuries were Cantonians Alice Walker, 47, released today after treatment for a possible cut; and Marjorie Frazier, 41, who may be released today after treatment for lacerations of the left leg.

Kathleen Tuck, 47, who is in fair condition with a fractured right knee and shoulder and rib injuries; and Helen Mosby, 61, who is in fair condition with a fractured left leg and right knee.

Canfield post highway patrolmen who are still investigating the accident said Walker was driving east on Rt. 62 and apparently failed to stop at a stop sign. His car was struck on the left side by Little's auto which was traveling north on Rt. 14.

Council Petitioned To Re-route Rt. 45

Businesses and residents on S. Lincoln Ave. and a portion of E. State St. petitioned City Council Tuesday night to re-route Rt. 45 from its present location to S. Ellsworth Ave. Seventy-seven signatures accompanied the request.

The petitioners suggested the state route go down Depot Rd. to Pidgeon Rd. and then along Pidgeon Rd. to the present Rt. 45, south of the city.

Republican Councilman-at-large, Arthur Hanna and Council President Curtis Vaughan told a representative of the petitioners that Council, in January, sent a resolution to the Ohio Highway Dept. requesting Rt. 45 be rerouted on S. Ellsworth Ave.

"The city has no control over Depot and Pidgeon Rds." Councilmen explained. They said the county reportedly is in favor of the relocation of the state route.

Mayor Harold Smith told the Council that Charles O. Snyder, county engineer, had sent a similar request to the state.

It was suggested that a copy of the petition be sent to the county and to the highway department.

"I don't think this is the ultimate solution" to the problem, Fred "Ike" Koenreich, Democratic Councilman-at-large, asserted. He wanted to know what was happening on the proposed southwest by-pass around Salem.

Mayor Smith was asked to

Serious Housing Problem Foreseen

Lisbon Board Discusses Shortage of Facilities

LISBON — A two-hour discussion on the impending severe shortage of school facilities was held Tuesday night when the Village Board of Education met at the High School.

A 20-page booklet on the situation, compiled by Supt. Loren Early, was distributed to members. The booklet contained data pointing up to the serious housing problems which will develop throughout the school system in the near future unless a building program is started soon.

Two alternatives to construction of additional classrooms would be the institution of half day sessions or 12-month school terms.

The board asked Supt. Early to ascertain the figures pertaining to the extra expense involved in a new building program as compared with that resulting from the hiring of additional teachers if either of the alternatives is selected.

Members also discussed materials currently used in school construction, and the applicable insurance rates.

The six-room addition at Lincoln School still is not in use, it was reported. Date for completion of the annex was not set last night.

In other action the board refused to sign a maintenance agreement providing for payment of $42 a year to keep the school system's duplicating machine in working order.

Members authorized the attendance of Gerald Chapel, speech therapist, at the national convention of the American Speech and Hearing Assn. which will be held in Cleveland Nov. 11-14.

Supt. Early reported that under the National Defense Act the board will receive additional funds for the high school science laboratory which is being modernized. The village is expected to receive $3,569 on the project which will cost over $8,000 to complete.

The board discussed the furnishing of instructional material for students. Certain fees can now be charged for this material as the schools must furnish only text books, according to the Ohio Board of Education. No action was taken on this matter last night.

The next school board meeting will be Tuesday, Nov. 17, at 7:30 p.m. EST.

McDonald Says USW Will Obey If T-H Is Used

Statement Comes On Eve Of Ike's Implied Deadline

PITTSBURGH, Pa. (AP) — United Steelworkers President David J. McDonald said today his union will use every legal means to avoid a Taft-Hartley court injunction in the 85-day-old nationwide steel strike.

The union president made the statement after sending home the USW's 170-member Wage Policy Committee — a further indication that negotiations are hopelessly stalemated.

McDonald said if President Eisenhower invokes the Taft-Hartley Act and a court injunction is issued to put the mills back into operation for an 80-day cooling period, the half-million striking Steelworkers "will obey the law of the land."

But he emphasized that the union is strongly opposed to use of the Taft-Hartley Act. Top steel industry executives and heads of the United Steelworkers held a 90-minute summit meeting Tuesday night. It ended on a hopeless note.

Roger M. Blough, U.S. Steel Corp. board chairman and spokesman for the industry group, said the union is "unalterable in its position."

President David J. McDonald of the Steelworkers, who requested the summit conference, said industry is "not flexible."

"They remain adamant," the union leader said. There were no negotiations scheduled for today — the eve of President Eisenhower's implied deadline for using the Taft-Hartley Act which could send workers back to the mills for an 80-day cooling off period.

The wage policy committee on Monday rejected the latest industry offer as completely unsatisfactory.

The industry said its offer would give workers a 15-cent hourly package increase during the life of a two-year contract. The union said the offer would come close to gains of 10 cents an hour in the two years.

Blough said the union's demand

Jackman Called In Probe of '21'

Committee to Turn Attention to 'Dotto'

WASHINGTON (AP) — A congressional committee expects to finish today its sometimes hilarious revival of the television quiz show "Twenty-One." So far it has been a story of fix, fraud and doublecross.

Called as the windup witness on "Twenty-One" was Richard Jackman, a former contestant who is said to have told a New York grand jury the show was crooked. Jackman is an organizer for the International Ladies Garment Workers Union.

The House subcommittee on Legislative Oversight then planned to turn its spotlight on another TV quiz—"Dotto," the first of the shows to collapse under fraud charges. This started a chain of events that brought to an end the era of huge money prizes and strained, sweating faces peering out of isolation booths.

The story of the doublecross was unfolded by James Snodgrass, 37, a New York artist. He testified that he brought "Twenty-One's" producers to the verge of panic by giving the correct answer to a question he said they told him to miss.

Another Meeting Set On School Bus Safety

LISBON — The Ohio District Ruritan committee has set up a meeting for Nov. 19 at United Local School to which each school board in the Columbiana - Mahoning - Stark - Carroll area, Ruritan clubs, and rural service clubs will be asked to send representatives for further discussion of school bus safety measures.

The meeting was set at the Ruritan get-together Monday with State Rep. Clarence L. Wetzel. It was also recommended that letters be sent to all school boards in the four-county area asking that they stay on Eastern Standard Time throughout the year.

James Boyd of East Liverpool, chairman of the Ruritan school bus safety program, presided.

35 Additional Blood Donors Are Needed

At least 35 more volunteers must register to donate blood Friday if Salem is to meet its quota of 125 pints when the Cleveland Regional Bloodmobile makes its bi-monthly visit here. The unit will be stationed in the First Methodist Church from 10 a.m. to 4 p.m.

A total of 105 pints was donated when the unit visited here in August.

Miss Hazel Linn, executive director of the local Red Cross Chapter, explained that it is necessary to have 180 donors registered since some volunteers are rejected because of colds or other illnesses and others fail to keep their appointments because of illness or other reasons.

Anyone in good health between the age of 18 and 59 is eligible to become a blood donor and may call for an appointment by phoning the Red Cross headquarters at ED 5-219, or Mrs. James Gregg at ED 2-4488.

Blood collected here is available to anyone in this area who needs it, regardless of where he is hospitalized. A fee charged by the hospital or physician in administering the blood is the only cost to the patient.

Mrs. J. B. Atchison and Mrs. Norman Reich will serve as volunteer registrars Friday, and 10 volunteer registered nurses and two nurses aids will assist the personnel in charge.

Mrs. Albert Hanna, chairman of the Red Cross Canteen, will supervise women from Perry, Mt. Nebo, Guilford and Salem Granges, who will provide, prepare and serve refreshments to the donors and workers.

Fall Rose Care Gives Better Blooms

By ALLEN SWENSON
(Written for NEA Service)

Roses will reward you with better blooms next season if you give them attention now.

Use a multipurpose pesticide for easy, effective control of insects and diseases throughout the season. It's best to prevent these pests by regular sprays or dusts, about 10 days apart. You can vary the timing according to your weather. After rainy days you'll need to dust or spray, because disease is favored by damp weather.

Aphids, rose slugs and cane borers are among the chief insect offenders. Malathion, lindane or DDT alone or in multipurpose mixtures can minimize most insect problems.

ON ROSES diseases are usually more of a worry. Black spot, powdery mildew and rust are the main ones.

Phaltan is the newest wide range fungicide for excellent disease control. Other good materials are captan, ferbam and sulfur. Use sulfur only in cooler weather. Karathane fungicide can be used any time and is best against mildew.

Look for any of these good materials in mixed rose dusts or all-purpose sprays that you buy.

Feed roses in the spring and summer; NOT in the fall. You can use special rose food or complete 5-10-5 type garden fertilizers. Spread a handful around each bush each month, and water it in. Foliar feeding is also recommended. These new foliar fertilizers are sprayed on the leaves. Growth response is rapid and worth while.

FOR WINTER PROTECTION, prune hybrid teas and floribundas in the fall. Cut back to about 18 inches tall, removing tender terminal growth.

But don't prune climbers, other than to remove dead wood. Climbers bear next season's roses on the canes which grew this summer.

Covering roses with soil and mulch is wise in colder climates. It protects them from the hazards of winter.

Take climbing roses down and tie the cane ends to stakes. A light cover of soil with mulch on top is good.

For hybrid teas and multifloras, add a mound of earth around the base of each plant. Then mulch well with straw, peat moss or evergreen branches. In severely cold locations you might even loosen the bushes and bury them with earth until early spring.

New "subzero" strains of roses don't require as much protection. Mulching, however, prevents the harmful frost heaving that breaks root systems even on hardy plants.

Excellent information on hardy roses and all varieties is available free. A postcard to the American Rose Society in Columbus, Ohio, will bring you their free Guide to Buying Roses.

Sidewalk Comments

By HAL BOYLE

NEW YORK (AP) — Sidewalk comments of a pavement Plato: Most people are sure of what they do not know.

For example, many feel that folk more famous than themselves have better solved the puzzle of living.

Haven't you ever envied a celebrity? Haven't you ever pondered what he or she had that you don't have?

Well, whether it was the ears-against-the-world assurance of Clark Gable, the relaxed billowness of Marilyn Monroe, or the stentorian frontier of John Foster Dulles, they all shared one thing with you.

Yes, sir, you have one thing in common with them. All people do. The thing you share is naivete.

Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev has it, the lady next door has it, the man who picks up the garbage has it.

Everybody has an opinion. High or low. They are all sure in their own minds about certain things.

But the human mind is a funny thing. The more it insists on the acceptance of one idea, or a series of ideas, the more vulnerable it is to ideas which it is unsure of. Naivete creeps in.

It is partly the old saying come true that "a salesman who can sell can be sold."

Behind the wisest man who ever lived was an eternal naivete, either about himself or others. His confidence cloaked a doubt. When the busy voice was stilled and the tireless limbs rested, doubt came and whispered, "What you are so much about, is it so? Is this all?"

The question came to Alexander, to Napoleon, to the old lady next door.

To be naive is to be human. To be nonnaive is to be divine.

CINCINNATI (AP)—Planning to buy your own home? It may cost more because young men aren't going into the trades that call for apprentices, says J. E. Kostyo, secretary of the Ohio Apprenticeship Council.

Kostyo, of Columbus, was here for the annual council conference which runs through Thursday. Margaret A. Mahoney, state director of industrial relations, addresses the group tonight.

Siamese Twins Are Still Alive After Operation

PORTLAND, Ore. (AP)—The newly separated Stubblefield Siamese twins were alive today, but a medical spokesman said it was "nip and tuck" for the three-month-old girls.

"They are getting along as well as can be expected," said a spokesman for the University of Oregon Medical School Hospital, where the five-hour operation was performed Tuesday.

The operation was termed a success but doctors said the 24 to 48 hours following surgery would be the most crucial period. The delicate operation was performed by a team of 17. As expected, they found that the twins had a common breastplate, and a liver bridge.

The twins — named Jeanett Kim and Dennett Linn — were born face to face, and were joined at the abdomen.

The parents are Mr. and Mrs. James Stubblefield of Parma, Idaho.

Civil Air Patrol Builds New Headquarters

More than 100 Civil Air Patrol members and their families met at Toth air field near Meander Lake recently to speed work on construction of their Group 3 headquarters building before winter weather sets in.

The structure, shown under construction in the above picture, will provide enough room for the four Group 3 squadrons, comprising Salem, Warren, Alliance and Youngstown, to hold staff meetings, bivouacs, and maintain a supply depot.

The buildings being erected have been obtained from army surplus at the Lordstown Arsenal by the CAP Group Commander, Col. Paul E. Bevans of Canfield.

The Group has obtained an airfield, for its own use from Mr.

Toth on Gibson Rd. near Meander Lake. Its present 1,500-foot runway can be increased to 3,000 feet.

First Lt. Paul Howard is in charge of the Salem CAP squadron which is a part of Group 3. Activated last April, the squadron now has 30 cadets and 10 senior members. Included are Sgt. Pat Lentz, Joe Sox, operations officer, and Tom Hutson, information service officer.

The Group plans a practice search air rescue mission Oct. 18.

Youths interested in joining the local CAP squadron are invited to the regular meetings which are held every Wednesday night from 7 to 10 p.m. in the Home Savings & Loan Co. building, second floor. Information may be obtained by phoning ED 7-7352 or ED 7-6065.

Lorain Residents Attend Meeting On Man's Slaying

LORAIN, Ohio (AP)—More than 600 Spanish-speaking Lorain residents attended a meeting Tuesday night to discuss the killing of Martin Salgado by an Avon policeman Monday.

The audience listened to Nicholas A. Bucur, Spanish-speaking Cleveland attorney, explain the legal questions involved. Bucur emphasized during the two-hour session that important questions were involved in the speeding incident claimed by Salgado's death as he attempted to flee police. Salgado had come to Lorain from Puerto Rico.

"Did the policeman make a lawful arrest? Did he use more force than was necessary in making that arrest?" were the two questions needing an answer, Bucur said.

The patrolman who fired the fatal shot, Robert W. Weiland, 25, has been suspended from duty by Avon mayor Laverne Pickering until a county grand jury next month hears facts in the shooting of Salgado, 35, a striking steelworker.

Salem High School Athletics

The ninth-place rating of the Salem High School Quakers in the latest Associated Press poll of sports writers is no surprise to the legion of loyal fans who have been following the local football team since the opening game Sept. 18.

The Quakers are a formidable, well-coached team and, we think, one of the best in the district. In beating Cleveland Lincoln, Ravenna and Canton Timken, the Red and Black have amassed 122 points while holding their opponents scoreless.

It is not likely that the Quakers will get overconfident as they face the balance of the season, with a potent Ambridge, Pa., squad facing them this Friday on the other side of the state line. Coach Bruce and his capable staff aren't apt to permit it, however good the past performances are.

The football Quakers, like their championship basketball counterparts of last season, are demonstrating a thorough knowledge of the game, a real desire to play and good sportsmanship. This, coupled with staunch support of the community, has increased Salem's stature in the Ohio scholastic sports scene.

There's no reason why Salem High School athletes can't measure up against the best of them.

No Pep In Our Pooh-Poohs

Russia has put a space laboratory into orbit around the moon, but—

Russia has landed a space rocket on the surface of the moon, but—

The United States, etc., etc., etc.—

But there's no pep in our pooh-poohs.

From the beginning, in those first few weeks and months after Sputnik I jarred us into alarm over this country's space-age lag two years ago, the pep has been taken out by a realization that Secretary of Defense McElroy finally put into the record when told the Russians had launched a rocket with equipment to photograph the hidden side of the moon.

The Soviet Union has better booster rockets, he admitted. After two years of all-out effort we haven't begun to know why.

That is what takes the pep out of the pooh-poohs.

After everything has been discounted—after all Russian claims have been boiled down and double-distilled for their essence of truth and fact—the fact remains the United States has no more idea than a rabbit of what gives the Soviet rockets their phenomenal thrust.

Russian rocketeers can hurl tons of dead weight further than the United States can hurl its tiny basketball-sized rocket cargoes.

With the advantage this gives them, the Russians can tackle all kinds of projects still beyond the reach of American rocketeers. Even their failures, not as well publicized as U.S. failures, must be on a scale to make their rivals in the United States sick with envy.

No one knows how the Russians can lob such enormous weights into space. The power of their booster rockets is incredible.

U.S. space explorers could duplicate all the calculations that make it possible to hit the moon to assure a respectful American reception for a visiting Russian premier. But without a booster rocket to work with, U.S. explorers couldn't hit anything.

They may say it doesn't matter as far as military rockets are concerned, but we think they're whistling in the darkness of outer space. It does matter.

Saying it doesn't is just one more pooh-pooh with no pep in it.

Mr. Nehru Still In the Middle

India's Prime Minister Nehru let loose again last week with some more tough talk about Red China's invasion of his mountain borders.

He said his country's approach to cooperation between nations with differing economic and political systems has suffered a "set-back" because of Peiping's "hostile attitude."

According to reports, the Indian leader was more sorrowful than angry as he spoke on a Congress party resolution accusing Communist China of having violated the principles of peaceful coexistence and noninterference.

Therein lies, perhaps, the explanation for what puzzles so many about Mr. Nehru's brand of neutralism: It is not so much that he is neutral for many nations are neutral in the East-West conflict. Rather, it is the way he goes about his neutralism.

Last week he was talking tough about Peiping. Two weeks ago he also was talking tough. During the week in between, however, his defense minister was sponsoring a move in the United Nations to give Peiping a seat in that body dedicated to peace.

India has backed such a move for several years, and each time has been defeated because a majority of the nations in the U.N. felt that Red China had shown so little regard for peaceful coexistence and noninterference that she was unfit for a place in their midst.

Yet, when Peiping aims its contemptuous behavior at India itself, confirming once again the judgment of the free world, Mr.

Nehru appears to be more sorrowful than angry.

Perhaps the Prime Minister has not yet recognized the fault in his approach to neutralism: he tries to please everybody.

There is no surer way to fail at friendship, because the man who tries to please everybody appears to be a wishy-washy soul with no convictions whatever.

A man with no convictions pleases nobody. He only loses the respect of everybody.

Mr. Nehru has been trying to play on both sides of the fence for so long that by this time he has little respect from either side.

Being of Real Help

The same spirit of helpfulness that manifested itself when a community response enabled the Salem Plastics Co., Inc., to locate here several months ago, was evident over the weekend after the new factory's water supply gave out suddenly.

Forced to curtail its activities because of a bad well, executives of the plant appealed to city officials for an emergency water line extension. Water department employees labored Sunday to start digging the ditch and install the pipe so that no time would be lost. As the result of the cooperation of city workers, Utilities Superintendent Aubrey Hayes and Mayor Harold Smith, the firm will be back in business in a matter of days.

The incident is typical of Salem's desire to be helpful to new and existing industries, which are the economic backbone of our city.

Once Over

Despite absence of the world series in New York there is plenty of wild life there. Folks who thought big cities had only people and French poodles will be amazed by John Kieran's revelation that many creatures of the woodlands and farms can be found not far from Times Square.

If you dare take eyes off traffic you may see snow geese inspecting theater belt, bald headed eagles over a Bronx delicatessen area and prairie animals hard by a subway entrance.

We are ahead of John, however. We have encountered the following:

1. A flock of 200 polka-dot flamingoes over two-decker taxi as we emerged from a Madison Ave. cocktail party.

2. A zipper-breasted dickcissel flying out from the medicine cabinet aspirin bottle after a Bronx clam bake.

3. The subway triple threat night thrasher which nests only in Broadway electric sign and is happy only when flying over theater cowds.

4. The Metropolitan tuffiebird, which once built its nest only in elevated railroad structures but has now switched to laying eggs in the underbody of speeding police cars. (Once we came out of a New Year's eve party and saw a herd of moose crossing 42nd Street and had an argument with a buffalo as we stopped at a drugstore for bromo seltzer.)

THE ROCKPORT RECLUSE, reformed sports writer, busy wild life student and eccentric golfer is 10 points behind us in his "Natural History in New York." But he has startled big city folks none of whom will now be surprised by a Monarch butterfly zooming into a taxicab, a possum asleep behind the delicatessen store or a baby deer in a theater boxoffice line.

New Yorkers, sick of trying to cross streets in midtown traffic jams, may drop the struggle and go a couple of blocks south to hunt for a strawberry turtle, a prothonotary warbler, a spray of wild mint or a swivelnecked night club plunger which zooms into dining rooms and snatches hors d'oeuvres from customers. If you want to be a bird watcher in a metropolis among skyscrapers, super-markets and excavations, it's possible, despite traffic jams, gang "rubies," four-alarm fires and grand juries.

REAL WORLD SERIES fan is fellow who throws pop bottles at the umpire on the TV screen and yells, "Take the bum out," during a broadcast.

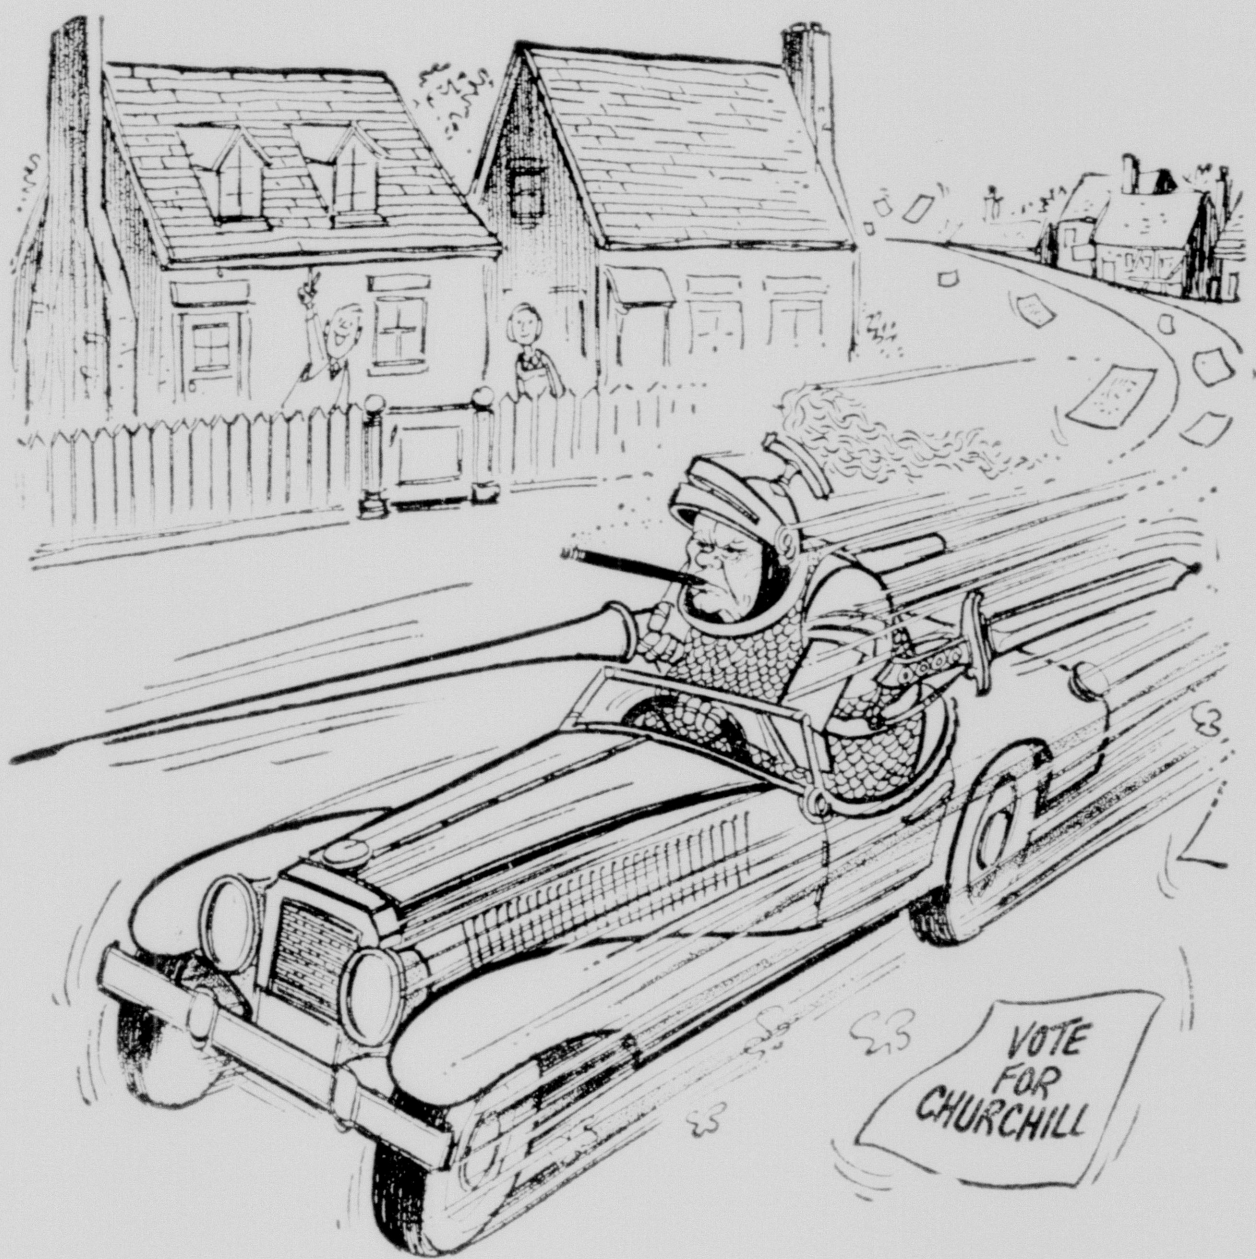

New musical on the road called "Fiorello" is based on life of late Mayor La Guardia. It had better be good or the "Little Flower" will spring from his grave and blast the authors.

Perry Como's fall debut shows again that he leads the field in taste, wholesomeness and class, ignoring frenzied TV stars who strain, reach, struggle and sweat, revealing the standards of entertainers raised under wet planks.

A big dressmaking corporation is talking of a merger with giant copper company. Are the mines getting softer or the women harder?

IF YOU THRILL to the American way and are sick of the claim that being poor and underprivileged excuses kid gangsterism, the story of Moss Hart, famed playwright, will give you a lift. Hart, it is revealed, was born in poverty, came up in the slums of New York and knew the toughest going. He had to work after school and contributed most of his $4 a week to keep the family going. He had to quit school in the eighth grade. He knew hunger, cold, family dissensions and stern trials. The neighborhood had only underprivileged kids but it was an age, some 40 years ago, when hardships didn't turn the young to mugging old men, killing schoolmates and behaving generally like savages.

Herter Is Almost Anonymous

By JAMES MARLOW

WASHINGTON (AP)—For the first time in years this country has a secretary of state who is so self-effacing he is almost anonymous. He works hard but stays in the background.

This retiring quality in Secretary Christian A. Herter may have been an indirect but major factor in what seems to be a change in American foreign policy as seen in the new effort to get along with the Soviets.

Herter, a mild and proper Bostonian, talks when he has to, as he did last spring and summer at Geneva in dealing with the Soviets on Berlin. Otherwise, he has little to say. This is a switch in more ways than one.

Dean Acheson, secretary under President Truman, was a self-assured, imaginative and aggressive man who sometimes even gave the impression of arrogance.

He made a lot of speeches, was continually in hot water with Congress, took a lot of abuse—particularly from Sen. Joseph McCarthy—fought back and yet so managed it that Truman appeared the undoubted boss of foreign policy.

Not so with Herter's immediate predecessor, Secretary John Foster Dulles, who was an aggressive man, too, and stubborn. Dulles seemed less imaginative than Acheson, but was continually in hot water with congressional Democrats.

He made a lot of speeches, too.

But he so dominated his job that President Eisenhower looked like a secondary figure in foreign affairs, leaving it up to Dulles to carry the load.

Herter stays so much out of sight that Eisenhower completely dominates in foreign relations.

Acheson and Dulles, besides their public speeches, held news conferences regularly. Herter has had only one in Washington since taking office last April 22.

True, he has been out of the country a lot—at Geneva and then in Latin America for formal conferences—but even when he could naturally be hogging the camera, or staying within close range, he didn't.

Try to remember seeing him at all when he was in Europe with Eisenhower a few weeks ago. Were you conscious of him in any of the pictures of Soviet Premier Nikita Khrushchev taken with American officials?

It is questionable Khrushchev ever would have been invited here if Dulles had been alive. His whole policy was a rigid, unbending, stiff-arm. This does not mean to imply Herter is any softer. But he may be more flexible.

The difference between Herter and Dulles is bound to affect Eisenhower. Even when Eisenhower and Dulles appeared together on TV it was Dulles who did most of the talking.

The President seemed to defer to his judgment. Perhaps Eisenhower was always more willing to try new tactics than Dulles but yielded to the older man's more frozen views.

It is easy to understand how Eisenhower, when the dominant Dulles was no longer around to lean on or defer to, had to rely more on himself and assert himself more.

He has been doing that increasingly since early in 1959 when Dulles began to sink into death from cancer. This was made easier to do, and perhaps became more necessary, when the self-effacing Herter became secretary.

For this reason Eisenhower—who always seemed more willing to experiment than Dulles—may have felt free to invite Khrushchev here. It is understood Herter fully approved this idea.

Fantastic Aftermath

By DAVID LAWRENCE

'No Time Limit' Not In Formal Communique

Some of the things that have happened as an aftermath to the Khrushchev visit seem fantastic.

Thus, the other day many officials waited anxiously for Nikita Khrushchev to make a certain announcement after his return to Moscow. He had agreed informally with President Eisenhower to say to the press that there would be no "time limit" on the negotiations about West Berlin. For some unexplained reason, Mr. Khrushchev wasn't willing to put this into the formal communique but he did agree to an arrangement whereby President Eisenhower would tell it first to his own press conference the next day and then the Soviet Premier would announce the same thing to a press conference in Moscow.

For several hours there was discussion inside the State Department and elsewhere in the government as to whether Mr. Khrushchev would keep his word.

Actually, what Mr. Khrushchev said publicly to a Moscow press conference isn't of very great significance. For all he announced was that there would be "no time limit on the negotiations," but that they must "not be prolonged indefinitely."

The first part of this statement really is contradicted by the second. For, where a time limit is not fixed, it means that either party can terminate the agreement at any time.

So far as Mr. Khrushchev is concerned, he already had told the press in Washington that he didn't see any other way out but for the Soviet government to sign a peace treaty with "the two German states."

THIS MEANS, of course, no reunification of Germany. It could also mean that, since West Berlin would be regarded by the Soviets as a part of the East German Republic, the initiative would be placed squarely upon the Western Allies to decide whether they would enforce their rights in Berlin.

In substance, the situation hasn't moved off dead center at all. There has been just a play on words and the world is so eager for some kind of reassurance and easing of tension that it grasps at almost any straw.

As a matter of fact, many high officials of our own government who have by no means been fooled by the Soviet Premier have had discussions among themselves as to just what was the real purpose of the Soviet Premier's visit to America and what he really meant by his proposals for disarmament and the like.

To many of them, there seems no question about the fact that for reasons of self-interest—not altruism or consideration for the West—the Soviet government has decided that it needs a period of rest and possibly relief from the heavy burden of armament.

Being a dedicated Communist, Mr. Khrushchev is convinced that Communism is eventually going to be victorious throughout the world.

He doesn't feel that it is necessary to conquer by force of arms, because infiltration is a much easier process. If he can lull the Western nations into a disarmament program and if his own subversives keep on infiltrating the weaker governments of the world as well as some of the stronger ones and if billions of dollars' worth of rubles are spent each year for propaganda, the Soviet Premier thinks victory is attainable in that way even more readily than through arms.

THERE ISN'T much doubt here about the extent to which the Soviet government would agree to disarm. It can't afford to agree to complete disarmament. It needs armies for its own undisclosed purposes. It has a military clique that is not going to take any chances on what the Eastern European satellite countries might do.

This military apparatus is necessary not only for internal peace but to keep a dominant position for the Soviets on the continent of Europe.

But timing is an important factor and is one of the reasons why there is so much confusion in appraising what the Soviet policy really is going to be. Time means nothing to the Soviet leaders.

They would just as soon carry on a program that takes 10 or 15 or 20 years to accomplish as one that has to come to a climax in the next year or two.

The reason is that the Communists are convinced that the Western countries will weary of the negotiations and will make concession after concession in the interest of "easing tension."

THERE ARE MANY Americans, of course, who are urging that the United States "must not let down its guard" but already because of the mere discussion of disarmament there is widespread interest in how much money can be saved by reducing military appropriations. The Soviets are well aware of what all this means and have already begun to attack those influences in the United States which are supposed to be eager to perpetuate a "cold war."

Nobody in his right senses wants to perpetuate any kind of war—cold or hot. But as long as there is an aggressive war machine in operation and as long as infiltration—which is a form of aggression—is carried on throughout the world by the Communists, it would be folly for any of the Western countries to believe that the "cold war" is ending or likely to end.

Despite their denunciations of the cold war, the Soviets have not yet done anything to eliminate it. The Moscow line is that the Soviet Union isn't interfering in the internal affairs of other countries—but it is doing so every day in the Middle East, in Latin America and in Southeast Asia, as well as in Eastern Europe.

Profits Still on Increase

By SAM DAWSON

NEW YORK (AP)—Business has gone through the strike-beset third quarter without too much damage to its spinal cord—profits.

Steel and copper companies themselves, and the railroads and mines that serve them, and some of their customers, are suffering damage. And most of these are yet to report.

Other companies reporting so far show profits down from the booming first half of the year but still with a nice increase over a year ago.

And some of them couldn't be having it better. For example, the banks. Increased demand for loans, plus the all-important higher interest rates, give most of them the chance to report fat earnings to their stockholders.

In the nonbanking world, the reports are also good—always excepting metals.

By a score of five to one, the first 32 companies to report on their third quarter earnings—on the basis of a fiscal year that ends before the calendar one—show better results than a year ago.

Combined, the 32 report profits of $96,450,544 for the third quarter, a gain of 12 per cent over the $86,055,126 the same companies reported the year before. Only nine report declines this year. As always, some didn't do as well as the average. Three operated in the red this year, and four a year ago.

These first scattered returns on third-quarter earnings fall below the tab for the year to date. This may reflect the steel strike's impact, or that of hot weather, or of special conditions.

And a fourth-quarter rise is widely anticipated when the strike's effects are history.

For the first nine months of this fiscal year 64 companies show a gain of 21.7 per cent over the previous year's net income after taxes.

Only 16 fell behind. And only three operated at a loss, compared with seven the year before.

The combined net earnings of the 64 for this fiscal year's first nine months is $251,620,271, compared with $206,617,813 a year ago.

This happy news has been translated into cash for many stockholder. Increased dividend payments have been announced by many corporations.

The Department of Commerce reports that total dividend payments this year are 3½ per cent higher than a year ago, although it noted a 9 per cent drop by mining companies.

Infirmary's Oldest Resident Recalls Past Through Time-Fogged Memory

By LARRY HAWSE

In a narrow, close room at the Columbiana County Home near Lisbon sits the institution's oldest resident, a small, nearly dehydrated woman who will mark her 101st birthday Oct. 25, according to the official records of the home.

But Mrs. Mary Smith, who still has a twinkle in her eye and an occasional laugh in her throat, may actually be several years past the century mark.

She says she was 14 years old when her father died at the Battle of Richmond during the war between the states. Since the Union Army raised the Stars and Stripes over the Confederate capital April 3, 1865 after a long struggle which opened with the Battle of Petersburg in June, 1865, she could be approaching her 108th birthday.

But the past is blurred and superimposed upon the present for the still sharp-minded woman who was born in a western Kentucky Settlement a year before Abolitionist John Brown made his ill-fated attack on the federal arsenal at Harper's Ferry (if the county home's records are correct.)

"I NEAR FORGOT everything I knew," said the tiny, wrinkle-faced woman who has been a resident of the home 23 years.

"When my daddy was killed, mother moved from Kentucky to Carter County, W. Va., she declared. "Frank, he's my oldest brother, was killed during the war while fighting for the South," she said. Mrs. Smith explained her father fought with the North while her brother joined the Virginian troops.

While talking with visitors, mostly members of various church organizations, she sits on an old, wired-together rocking chair while the guests sit on the sagging bed with its lumpy mattress. Her room is on the second level of the 92-year-old building.

Her husband, George Washington Randolph Smith, was a "contractor" who helped lay the concrete roads throughout the eastern part of the country, the centenarian says. "My mister was boss of a lot of men," she says proudly.

APPARENTLY HE WAS a civil engineer. He had studied in Germany at least once and may have engineered some tunneling in Europe, according to what she told Russell Phillips, director of the county home. Mrs. Smith says he went to "study the language."

While he was in Germany, Mary stayed in England, she relates. According to the aged woman, they made three trips to Europe together. The first, on a sidewheeler, came shortly after her husband finished school.

The daughter of Harmon and Annie Elam Snowden Smith, she married her husband, she remembered with a smile on her face, while standing on a bridge over a river which separated two states. "I can still remember the snow falling that night," said she with a twinkle in her eye. She was 16 years old then and her Kentucky bridegroom, 24.

Trying to entice a memory from many years back is a difficult job for the unusually hardy woman. She can only follow one path at a time and often accuses the visitor of trying to "catch me up."

TIME, SCENES, PEOPLE and incidents all blend into one misty, obscure picture for her. But if a person could only delve into her unknown past, what a history lesson it would be.

Having no children of her own, Mrs. Smith apparently devoted her life to nursing during the prolonged absences of her "contractor" husband.

In addition to working for 18 years at the Philadelphia hospital for the insane, she worked for five years at the Washington County (Pa.) tuberculosis hospital. Then she received a "call" to a Steubenville hospital where she was employed three years.

After working at a Buffalo (N.Y.) hospital until she became "too old to work any more," she came to the Columbiana County Home in 1937, her husband having died in 1926. The home registration file card says she was born in Yellow Creek and lived in Ohio for 79 years before being admitted.

Verification of many other dates or places in her past is impossible because of the loss of her personal records.

One scene stands out vividly in her mind ("I can see it as if it were yesterday") although the date and the names have slid into oblivion.

She recalls standing on the deck of a ship which was carrying her back from her third and last trip abroad. Then she spotted the sinking vessel. "There were many snips gathered in the area that cold night, she recalled. Only two persons were brought aboard her ship alive, she said.

There is a possibility that this was the great Titanic disaster of April 14, 1912. Almost 1,600 persons died that day as the "unsinkable" ship went down.

ON HER INITIAL TRIP to England, Mrs. Smith saw her first sea

she said with a smile on her wrinkled face as the fogged past cleared for a minute.

In yet another memory out of the dim past, the aged woman talked about standing in a Washington, D.C., train station and watching a man with a handkerchief wrapped around his hand fire a bullet into the president of the United States — James A. Garfield.

Somewhere, behind the sands of time that have passed during the lifetime of Mrs. Smith, is a story of human sacrifice and achievement; but it is hidden from the public by a mind whose memories and possibly some fiction have been fused into a fragmentary, sometimes contradictory story.

"I near forgot everything know."

Wynn, Podres To Tangle In Sixth Game

CHICAGO (AP)—The underdog Chicago White Sox, their flagging hopes revived, flew back home today for a last ditch stand against the Los Angeles Dodgers for baseball's biggest prize.

"We're going to win this thing now," Manager Al Lopez boomed jubilantly after his American League champions defeated the Dodgers 1-0 in Los Angeles Tuesday on five singles to keep their chances for the World Series crown alive.

The Dodgers lead 3-2 in the best of seven series and can win the world title with one more victory. The sixth game will start at 1 p.m. est Thursday at Chicago's Comiskey Park.

Although the Dodgers are favorites to win their second World Series in five years, the Chicagoans may find some advantage in the familiarity of their own ballpark and the partisan rooting of White Sox fans.

Several members of the Chicago squad complained bitterly that the glare from the white-shirted 30,000-plus fans who jammed the Los Angeles stadium each of the three games there made it difficult to follow the ball.

A cloudy and cool day was forecast for Thursday's game with high temperatures in the 60s. Chicago's Early Wynn, veteran right-hander who won the first game here, 11-0, will face Johnny Podres, winner of the second game in Chicago.

contact Division 11 Engineer William P. McKenna at New Philadelphia to determine the actual status of the proposed highway.

Councilmen, at last night's session which was attended by five representatives of the Business and Professional Women's Club, also received notification that the rate franchise of the Ohio Fuel Gas Co. expires Jan. 18, 1960.

The rates chargeable by the natural gas firm had been set by a three-year contract between the city and the company approved in December, 1956, President Vaughan reminded Council. The firm recently hiked its rates under the rate adjustment clause.

Reportedly the company will seek a four-year rate franchise which would hike the gas rate about five per cent a year for the city's users. The firm is expected to ask for an increase of two cents per 1,000 cubic feet of gas each year during the run of the new schedule.

Council will convene as a committee of the whole next Tuesday to hear the proposal of the gas company after councilmen met to continue negotiations with the Ohio Edison Co. on a rate increase requested by that utility firm.

Ohio Edison first requested that negotiations start in a letter sent to Council in April. Under the franchise granted the utility firm by Council, the negotiations could continue for six months.

Although the negotiation deadline has passed, Ohio Edison will not seek a Public Utility Commission of Ohio hearing on the proposed rate increase of about 50 cents a month, a company spokesman said.

He indicated the firm will go along with a suggestion from Council that the rate increase be delayed until after the Nov. 3 elections. In other action Council.

for wage and fringe benefit increases would cost the industry about 60 cents an hour over the three year period. The union estimated its demands at 15 cents an hour for each year.

Both sides expressed a willingness to continue negotiations, but neither side made any known move to schedule another meeting.

The top industry officials said they planned to remain in Pittsburgh through the day. But they said they expected any further peace talks to be conducted by the industry team headed by R. Conrad Cooper, a U.S. Steel Corp. vice president.

As the strike — already the longest in steel industry history — grew older, once healthy steel reserves began to play out. Production, and employment began to sag.

Total unemployment in industries dependent on steel already has risen to more than 200,000. The situation is expected to get progressively worse.

President Eisenhower invoked the Taft-Hartley Act Tuesday to put an end to the Atlantic and Gulf coast dock strikes — at least for 90 days. But he called on the steel industry and union to resume negotiations until they reach an agreement.

Classes are held in the building for such arts as copper tooling, metal enameling, aluminum etching, ceramics, hammered aluminum and oil painting. A small fee is charged for the classes and is used to pay for the materials and to compensate the instructor.

The Memorial building provides leadership in most of the functions held in the building. Meetings are held in the building and most groups pay a slight rental fee. Rotary and Kiwanis clubs pay through weekly dinner-meetings.

President of Ohio Nursing Group Blasts Complexes

CINCINNATI (AP) — "All too often employers have taken advantage of the nurses' Florence Nightingale" complex. The employment standards we seek are not excessive."

That's the assertion of Mrs. Elizabeth Porter of Cleveland, president of the Ohio Nurses Assn.

She said Tuesday a recent survey indicated a registered nurse in Ohio received an average salary of $278 monthly, which she added works out to $161 an hour.

"Today, we need 5,000 more nurses in Ohio just to meet the minimum standard. We could attract a substantial number of registered nurses back into the profession if they could meet their obligations on a nurses' salary," Mrs. Porter declared.

The association at its annual convention Tuesday approved a resolution to seek legislation for what was called "an economic bill of rights" for nurses.

The resolution called for "freedom to associate for their common cause without fear of reprisal," for recognition of nurses' representatives, for contracts covering work policies and efficient grievance machinery.

Mrs. Porter said she believes improvement of wages and working conditions must come, or "we cannot hope to attract enough qualified young women into the profession to provide Ohio with an acceptable over-all level of patient care."

Lunik III Continuing In Its Orbit

MOSCOW (AP)—Lunik III, the Soviet Union's newest space traveler, apparently was continuing on its planned orbit today after rounding the moon, but the Soviets so far have not said what it found on the other side.

Word of what the flying laboratory observed on the face of the moon never seen by man may come after Lunik's next transmission of data, scheduled from 9 to 10 a.m. Eastern Standard Time today.

A Soviet announcement Tuesday night said the cosmic rocket reached a point 7,000 kilometers — 4,349.6 miles — from the moon at 9:16 a.m. Eastern Standard Time Tuesday and then "kept its movement turning around the moon."

By noon, the announcement continued, the rocket was 15,000 kilometers — 9,320.5 miles—from the moon's surface and continuing "on its predetermined orbit."

This was supposed to take it on around the moon and into a long oval orbit around the earth at the other end.

At that time, the Soviets said, the Lunik was 230,925 miles from the earth, over the Atlantic Ocean.

British scientists listening in on the satellite during its long journey were mystified Tuesday when Lunik's steady beep suddenly changed to a rhythmic fading and swelling. This occurred about the time it was scheduled to pass behind the moon.

The change in signal patterns was picked up quickly at Jodrell Bank, England, by the world's largest radio telescope.

Vanik Raps Use of T-H In Disputes

CLEVELAND (AP) — Rep. Charles A. Vanik (D-Ohio) says it is "dangerous procedure" to use the Taft-Hartley Act's national emergency injunctive provisions in labor-management disputes.

In a speech to the convention of the International Chemical Workers Union Tuesday, Vanik referred specifically to possible use of the provision by President Eisenhower to send strikers back to work for an 80-day cooling-off period in the national steel strike. He said:

"It invokes compulsion. And 'compulsed labor' as well as 'compulsed management' will not produce efficiently. The issue in this strike will not go away in 80 days."

Vanik said that in his opinion the steelworkers had made their case for higher wages. He accused the steel industry of using the current dispute as an opportunity to demoralize the steelworkers.

He said the steel industry looks upon President Eisenhower as a "dear" friend in the White House "who can pull the strike switch at any time by invoking the 80-day must-work directive of Taft-Hartley."

Vanik continued, "The president will use Taft-Hartley at any moment George Humphrey and his boys tell him to."

Humphrey, a Cleveland industrialist, is board chairman of the National Steel Corp. He served as the president's secretary of the treasury until 1957 and they are close friends.

Members voted amendments to the union constitution to make possible quick disaffiliation from the AFL-CIO through executive board action. That power formerly was vested only in the union's convention.

Cooper-Bessemer Corp. Buys Rotor Tool Co.

MOUNT VERNON, Ohio (AP)—The assets of the Rotor Tool Co. of Cleveland have been purchased by the Cooper-Bessemer Corp.

E. L. Miller, president of the pump manufacturing firm, said Tuesday the purchase will be accomplished by transfer of 98,988 shares of Cooper-Bessemer stock to the Cleveland company. The purchase is subject to approval by the tool firm's shareholders, he added.

Miller said no changes are planned in the present tool company management or plant location.

Party Chiefs Are Silent In Britain
LONDON (AP)—Britain's political parties made lightning election-eve canvasses today in a final desperate effort to carry the country's huge bloc of uncommitted voters.

The latest public opinion poll showed 8½ per cent of the voters in 50 key districts in the "don't know" or "won't tell" column.

Even the chiefs of the two major parties were cagey about predicting the results of Thursday's election of a new House of Commons.

The weather — a telling factor in British elections — seemed uncertain, with rain forecast in the West, and sun for the east. Rain tends to keep the voters away. Past elections have shown Laborites to be more easily deterred than Conservatives.

Prime Minister Harold Macmillan's Conservative party, seeking a third term in control of the government, could draw a grain of encouragement from the latest Daily Telegraph poll, which gave them a 2½ per cent lead over their Labor party rivals in 50 key constituencies.

Other recent polls have shown the two main parties — Labor and Conservative — racing neck-and-neck with up to one-fifth among the "don't knows." Britain has 35,400,000 eligible voters.

Chicago Tops Los Angeles 1-0 In Three-Pitcher Shutout

Chisox Victory Comes on 5 Hits

Wynn Faces Podres In Sixth Game

CHICAGO (AP)—It took three games, but the American League pennant winners — the Chicago White Sox everyone knows — finally showed up for the World Series at the Coliseum.

And now that they're free of the snake pit that passed for a ballyard in Los Angeles, they're sure they can sweep the final two games in their own park and win the series.

After winning the opener 11-0, then losing the next three when they out-hit themselves but could not get the runs, the White Sox finally returned to form Tuesday, barring the Dodgers' bid for a clinching victory in the fifth game with a 1-0 decision.

To stay alive, they went back to doing what comes naturally, winning with just five hits, all singles, clutch defense and the first three-pitcher shutout in series history.

Back home behind Early Wynn, who'll be making his third start, the Sox are favored at 11-10 in Thursday's sixth game, after a day off for travel.

But the Dodgers, who'll send southpaw Johnny Podres after his second victory are 5-2 choices for the world championship. They need win but one of the remaining two games.

Dodger manager Walt Alston said beforehand that his Dodgers have an advantage over any team playing in the Los Angeles Memorial Coliseum for the first time.

The Coliseum, filled with gold and bright sun, sent this 36th World Series rolling toward money highs with record crowds for each of the three games played in Los Angeles.

But it was an open-air dungeon full of horrors for defense, with the glare and white-shirt back-ground leaving fielders blind.

"Our defense ought to be better in our own park," said White Sox Manager Al Lopez. "Defense has been the best part of our club all year, but over there (Los Angeles) it was hurting us."

It was a tremendous relief job by Dick Donovan, the third game loser, that put it away for the White Sox. But it was Jim Rivera's running stab in right-center that saved the Sox something to put away.

A walk and a two-out single, Junior Gilliam's record-tying fourth hit of the game, had Sox starter Bob Shaw on the spot in the seventh with Charlie Neal coming to bat. It was Neal who had walloped a pair of home runs to beat Shaw in the second game.

Lopez made his move then, benching rookie Jim McAnany and shifting Al Smith from right to left to have a more experienced hand playing the Coliseum's left field screen. That left right field open, and Lopez plugged it with Rivera.

After a wild pitch put the runners on third and second, the right-hand-hitting Neal sent a drive deep to right-center — past center fielder Jim Landis, but not past the rambling Rivera, running toward the fence.

The White Sox got their run in the fourth, when Nellie Fox led off with a single and went to third on Landis' single to right-center. On a pop up to third, and retiring Don Zimmerman on a fly to right.

Donovan faced only five men in his 1-2-3 innings, and Zimmerman was the only one to get the ball out of the infield.

A record attendance of 92,706 was on hand in Los Angeles. No more mobs like that here though. You couldn't fit that many in Comiskey Park with a shoe horn. In addition, the advance weather prediction is cool and cloudy for Thursday.

Stitch and Dupas To Meet on Video

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (AP) — Russell Stitch, who spent Tuesday fishing on the Ohio River, meets Ralph Dupas tonight in a scheduled 10-round welterweight bout.

The match could be important to both Dupas, ranked No. 3 contender by the National Boxing Assn., and Stitch, ranked eighth, since Louisville promoter Bill King says he has offered $75,000 to welterweight champion Don Jordan to fight the winner here.

The bout will be televised nationally (ABC) at 9 p. m. (EST). Dupas, a fine defensive boxer with speed and an effective attack, has 95 professional fights behind him with 77 victories.

THEY'RE THE HEROES — Pitcher Bob Shaw, left, and catcher Sherm Lollar are happy heroes in the dressing room of the Chicago White Sox after the team won a last-ditch 1-0 victory over the Dodgers in the Los Angeles Coliseum before over 90,000 fans. It was the fifth game of the 1959 World Series. Shaw was credited with the victory and Lollar's fourth-inning double-play ball allowed Nellie Fox to score what became the only run of the game.

OUT OF DOORS with Field & Stream

By RUFUS LIDE

Not many of the sportsmen are living today that were primarily responsible for quail being placed on the song bird list back in 1913. The ones that are still alive are no doubt octogenarians.

At that time I was a kid of 16 years of age and it mattered very little if they sang or were shot. I had not reached the serious minded age and, not only that, I was beginning to find out there were lots of fun although hunting was also important to me at the time.

One of our finest game birds, the quail, will become legal quarry on state owned lands in Columbia County No. 16 through Dec. 9, inclusive.

NO GROUP of landowners in this county has formed an association that would permit the state to enter into an agreement where quail shooting will become legal on privately owned lands. Therefore, quail shooting in this county will be limited to the state-owned areas.

It could be that some so-called sportsmen have an idea they can shoot quail where they find them and if a game protector happens along and finds quail on their person all they have to say is "I shot them at Zeppernick's, Highlandtown or some other state owned lands."

Better read your laws, they are on file at the Clerk of Courts' office at the Court House in Lisbon.

The law clearly reads: "No person shall possess quail in the field, except on such lands as are open to quail hunting as set forth in Section (B) sub-section (4) (b) of this order" which has references to the Wildlife Council Order No. 172-59.

BACK IN 1913, it was primarily the sportsmen themselves who brought about the pressure to remove quail from the game bird list. In recent years it has been the sportsmen who have taken the lead requesting that quail be placed back on the game bird list and classified as game birds along with rabbits, pheasants, deer and other game birds and animals.

Now the requests have been partially granted on state-owned and state-controlled areas. The wildlife technicians have their work cut out for them for several years ahead. It is up to them to prove we can "have our cake and eat it at the same time".

THIS IS A TREMENDOUS challenge to the Ohio Division of Wildlife, as I see it. The proponents and the opponents of quail hunting have nothing to worry about. Quail hunting is illegal on any private lands not owned or controlled by the State of Ohio. Quail cannot be hunted on private lands with or without the landowners' consent.

If a game protector catches you with quail on your person off any state-owned or controlled areas you can "beef" your head off but the game protector will continue writing you a citation to the nearest County Court that is his duty.

Donovan Hero Of Sox Victory

Retires Furillo With Bases Full

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Dick Donovan, the "Smiling Irishman" was full of jokes and laughter as he bantered with reporters in the Chicago White Sox clubhouse after the fifth game of the World Series.

Why not? Rarely had a pitcher been called into a more tense, more precarious situation than was Donovan Tuesday. He came in to protect a 1-0 lead against the Los Angeles Dodgers with the bases full and only one out in the eighth inning.

Nobody ever turned in a more courageous performance in such a dramatic situation than did this 31-year-old right-hander, who had relieved only once in the last three years.

All the Quincy, Mass., native did, with the series riding on every pitch, was to retire the ever-dangerous Carl Furillo on a puny pop fly to third baseman Bubba Phillips and dispose of Don Zimmerman on a routine fly to left fielder Al Smith.

In the ninth, with the score still 1-0, he needed only seven pitches to turn back the last three Dodgers to the dismay of a record breaking crowd of 92,706 loyal Los Angelesans.

Donovan had every reason to be happy, carefree and at peace with his fellow man.

But it hasn't always been so. Donovan, in his ninth year in the big leagues, has had more disappointments and frustration.

He recalled the time when the Braves, in their first year in Milwaukee, suspended him for refusing to report to Toledo of the American Assn. Once he disgustedly decided to chuck it all and enter the insurance business, after flopping with Detroit.

He remembered the turning point of his career.

"It was in 1955, my first year with the White Sox," Donovan recalled with a smile. "It was early in the season. The Sox had brought me conditionally from the Atlanta club. I was determined this time to make good. I knew it was my last chance."

Manager Marty Marion started him against Kansas City. In the third or fourth inning he was shelled for four runs. Marion summoned a relief pitcher. Donovan refused to come out. He stood on the mound and argued with his manager but in the end, he had to relinquish the ball.

"When I answered a knock on the door of my room that night and Frank Lane (White Sox general manager) walked in, I was sure he had the pink slip in his pocket. He didn't, though. Instead of sending me down, he assured me I was going to stay with the club all year."

LSU, Northwestern Both Favored In Weekend Grid Contests

Bengals Picked To Dump Miami

Wildcats Get Nod Over Minnesota

NEW YORK (AP)—There is no World Series in college football—just a serious world of alumni, players and coaches. But never for forecasters. They live in a world that is go-go-zone.

Last week's efforts resulted in an average of 741. This week's offerings:

Louisiana State over Miami: Although the Bayou Tigers have held three opponents to a total of 5 points, the team hasn't yet displayed the smoothness expected of it. The home fans and the Chinese Bandits should pull LSU to victory over the revived Miamians.

Northwestern over Minnesota: The Wildcats are due for a let-down after successive victories over Oklahoma and Iowa but half-back Ron Burton gives them the edge.

Tennessee over Georgia Tech: Two unbeaten Southern giants. Billy Majors and Bunny Orr to prevail over Maxie Baughan, ace of Tech's grudging line.

Oklahoma over Texas: The Sooners get revenge for the 15-14 setback of last year.

Mississippi over Vanderbilt: The Rebels haven't been scored on this year and Vandy still is hunting its first triumph.

Wisconsin over Purdue: Dale Hackbart to keep the Badgers on the Rose Bowl track.

Iowa over Michigan State: It is the Hawkeyes' homecoming.

South Carolina over North Carolina: The men of Warren Geise have been welded into a strong unbeaten defensive club.

Syracuse over Navy: They meet in the season's first bowl game, the Oyster Bowl at Norfolk, Va. Syracuse has everything, including a strong bench.

Auburn over Kentucky: Too much defense.

Southern Methodist over Missouri: It's about time for Don Meredith to bust loose with some more scoring passes.

Elsewhere: Penn State over Army, Florida over Rice, Air Force over Idaho, Arkansas over Baylor, Notre Dame over California.

Friday

West Virginia over Boston University; The Citadel over Wofford, Wichita over George Washington, Oregon over San Jose State, Tulane over Detroit, Utah over Brigham Young.

Saturday

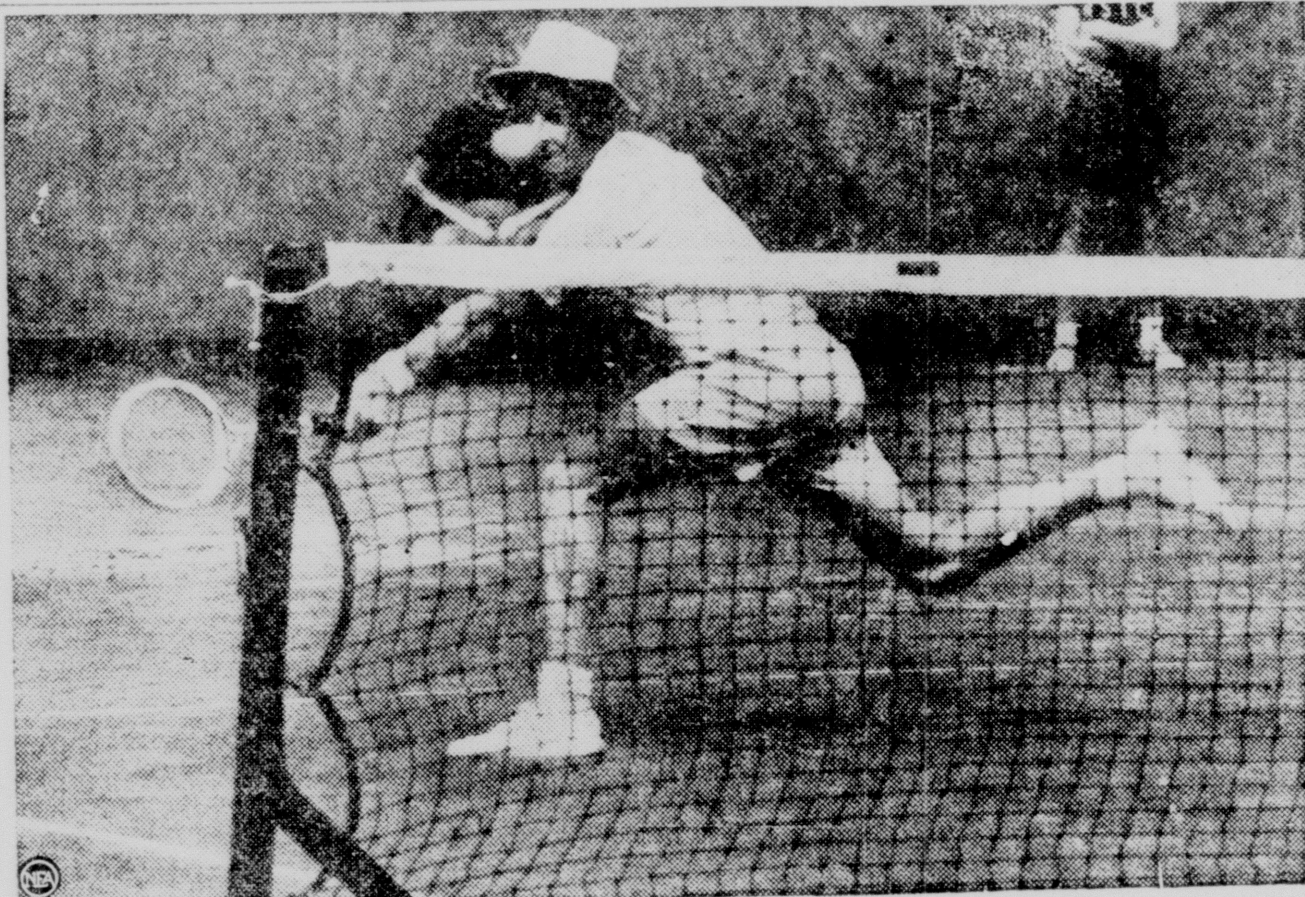

East: Boston College over Villanova, Dartmouth over Brown, Franklin & Marshall over Washington & Lee; Harvard over Cornell, Holy Cross over Dayton, Pittsburgh over Duke, Pennsylvania over Princeton, Rutgers over Colgate, Yale over Columbia.

South: Alabama over Chattanooga, Clemson over North Carolina State, Georgia over Hardin-Simmons, Maryland over Wake Forest, Mississippi State over Arkansas State, Richmond over Davidson, Virginia Tech over Florida State, Virginia Military over Virginia, William & Mary over Furman.

Midwest: North Texas over Cincinnati, Indiana over Marquette, Colorado over Kansas State, Michigan over Oregon State, Nebraska over Kansas, Ohio State over Illinois, Oklahoma State over Tulsa, Iowa State over South Dakota.

Southwest: Texas A & M over Houston, Texas Christian over Texas Tech, Texas Western over West Texas State.

FarWest: Denver over Montana, Washington State over College of Pacific, Utah State over New Mexico, Washington over Stanford, Wyoming over Colorado State.

SUN STROKE — Wearing a sloppy hat as protection against the sun, Rod Laver, the Australian Cup player, dashed across the court to make backhand returns and whatnot in the United States Singles Championships played at Forest Hills.

Phillis Still Holds Edge In Scoring

Schmauch Is Quakers' Leading Ground Gainer

Fullback Pete Schmauch has replaced Fred Phillis as Salem High's ground gaining leader after three games.

The 188-pound senior workhorse carried the ball 21 times for 147 yards against Canton Timken Friday. Phillis and Schmauch both averaged seven yards per try in the 32-0 victory over Timken, but the halfback carried just 14 times.

Schmauch has picked up 418 yards in 58 carries. Phillis has run for 375 yards in 39 tries.

Schmauch is also closing in on Phillis' scoring lead. His three touchdowns Friday ran his three-

Louisville's Top Scorer Overcomes Injury to Hips

LOUISVILLE, Ohio (AP)—Stark County's leading high school football scorer, with 10 touchdowns in three games, is half-back Gene Connor, 17, a 165-pounder whose hips were crushed in a train-auto accident a year ago today.

Jim Morgan, coach of the Louisville High Leopards, recalled: "Doctors said there was doubt Gene would ever walk again, let alone run. Gene has lots of determination, and even last season during the final two games, he was on the sidelines on crutches trying to throw the ball around."

Connor scored four touchdowns against Leetonia, one on an 85-yard run, and tallied six TDs against Sebring. Two of his six pointers came on pass catches and the rest on runs. Louisville lost its opener to Glenwood 18-0.

The accident in which Connor was hurt a year ago occurred while he and three other boys were riding home from football practice. One of the four, Tom Skolosh, was killed.

Hill Stops Shamblin On Split Decision

SARNIA, Ont. (AP)—Sonny Hill, Detroit middleweight, remained undefeated in pro boxing Tuesday night via a split decision over Roscoe Shamblin of Youngstown, Ohio, in an eight-rounder. Hill weighed 162 and Shamblin 167.

In other bouts Walt Turner, 154, Middletown, Ohio, knocked out Carl Hughey, 153, Detroit, in the second round; Jim Pettaway, 135, Toledo, Ohio TKO'd Ray Trotter, 134, Detroit; Oscar Burton, 176, Detroit, decisioned Levi Pearson, 161, Miami, Ohio.

1914 Big Red to Be Honored

Denison U. To Pay Homage To Its Greatest Grid Squad

GRANVILLE, Ohio (AP)—Denison University turns back the clock 45 years this weekend as it pays homage to its greatest football team.

That's the team of 1914—a 25-man squad which gave the Big Red its only state gridiron championship; which played Ohio's first game under lights; which defeated mighty Miami 40-33, and which sent four of its stalwarts on to professional football.

Four members of that team of almost a half-century ago—Nelson (Knocky) Rupp, George Roubush, Carl (Dutch) Thiele and Dr. Dave Reese—are still on Denison's all-time team.

"Uncle Dave" Reese, now the commissioner of the Mid-American Conference and formerly one of the nation's top-flight game officials, will pass up three games in his own circuit to return to the campus where he gained his athletic fame.

Of the 25-man squad 14 have died. Of the other 13, only two will miss the homecoming.

The 1914 Miami game, tagged the greatest distance for the homecoming. Both live near San Francisco.

Stories galore of past and present athletic feats will go on and on as the old-time greats get together, but Dayton's "Uncle Dave" probably will win the prize with his true boast that he's the only man ever to stop Army's great fullback, Doc Blanchard, for a five-yard loss.

That was in Yankee Stadium in 1944, where Reese was referee of the Army - Notre Dame game. Blanchard cut wide on a reverse play, banged squarely into "Uncle Dave" and fell behind the line where the Irish swarmed all over him.

"It was nothing, stopping Blanchard like that," Reese recalls. "All he did to me was break my leg—which allowed me to spend several weeks in a New York hospital playing gin rummy with my visitors."

Injuries Plaguing Buckeye Gridders

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—The injury bug is after Ohio State's football team again.

In Tuesday's practice center Gene Watkins pulled a groin muscle and joined five other Buckeyes on the casualty list. Others sidelined are quarterbacks Jerry Fields and Jack Wallace, guard Jim Lindner, halfback Bill Ger-

Ambridge Has One of Finest Fullbacks In Pittsburgh Area

Salem's Foe Friday Big In Middle Of Line

By DICK BRAUTIGAM

Exceptionally big in the middle of the line and possessors of one of the finest running high school fullbacks in the Pittsburgh area is the word on Ambridge, Pa., Salem's football host Friday night.

Booster Bus to Leave Here Friday at 6 p.m.

The bus chartered by the Salem Booster Club for the football game in Ambridge, Pa., Friday will depart from the Memorial Building at 6 p.m.

Booster Secretary Dick Loutzenhiser reminds that the $2.50 excursion price includes tickets to the game which have already been purchased.

River approximately 15 miles northwest of Pittsburgh, is a newcomer to the Salem schedule. It has 1,400 students in a four-year high school.

Footballwise, the Pennsylvanians appear to be well on the road to recovery from last year's devastating season which saw them lose nine of 10 games. In four contests this season, Ambridge has won three and lost one.

They opened with a 49-0 rout of Erie Strong Vincent before New Castle tripped them up by one touchdown, 20-13. In the last two weeks Ambridge defeated Allegheny 26-7 and Beaver Falls 12-6. Salem will be the fifth consecutive foe Ambridge has met on their home field.

ONE SPORTSWRITER for the Beaver, Pa., Times calls Ambridge one of the strongest teams in the Pittsburgh area. He expressed a personal feeling that Salem may be taking on a team that is over their heads despite the Quakers' ninth place rating in Ohio by the Associated Press.

Coach Mike Sebastian, in his ninth year at Ambridge, will have eight seniors, two juniors and a sophomore in his starting lineup Friday.

Inside the ends, the strong line will average over 200 pounds per man. The ends are Pat Albright, 160 junior, and Jim Hallis, 155 senior; tackles Dave Grim, 195 senior, and Steve Simko, 210 senior; guards Jim Evans, 170 senior, and Dick Shimrak, 215 senior; center John Simko, 220 junior.

Ambridge makes several changes on defense which adds even more weight to the line. Mike Burke, a 225 pounder, is a defensive guard who beefs up the middle of the line.

PROBABLY AMBRIDGE'S most outstanding player is Leo Chivaverini, 182-pound senior fullback. He is the team's top ground gainer. Last week against Beaver Falls, he rushed for more yardage than the rest of his teammates and the Beaver backs combined.

Chivaverini was converted from a halfback at the beginning of the year when the regular fullback was knocked out of action by an operation. He possesses good speed as indicated by several long touchdown jaunts he has registered.

His long runs include 85 yards with a punt return and 56 and 64 yards from scrimmage. He is equally adept as a pass receiver.

At quarterback will be Dennis Melnik, 155-pound senior. Melnik does the passing but has not been too successful in the air since the opening game against Erie Strong. He usually keeps the Ambridge winged-T attack on the ground to take advantage of the big line and hard-running fullback.

THE LEFT HALFBACK will be Fred Malnes, 160-pound sophomore. The other halfback, 165-pound senior Gary Rickley, has been hampered by injuries. Coach Sebastian, however, said today that Rickley will probably start against Salem. Mike Mihalic, 150-pound senior, is ready to take over at right halfback if needed.

John Simko has played some offensive fullback this season when Chivaverini was out of the game. Usually though he plays center on offense and linebacker on defense. He is a brother of right tackle.

Ambridge lost its best end after the first game of the season. It was found that he was too old to be eligible for high school athletics.

Coach Sebastian says his team has much to learn and he doesn't expect them to reach their peak until later in the season.

Breaks 4 of Cobb's Auto Marks

Thompson Records Four New Speed Marks at Bonneville

BONNEVILLE, SALT FLATS, Utah (AP) — America's fastest automobile driver headed for his California home today richer by four international speed records and wiser by at least two brushes with death.

Mickey Thompson, 30, of El Monte, Calif., in three days of running on the salt flats of western Utah smashed four international speed marks that have stood since the late English driver John Cobb, set them in 1939.

In one of Thompson's record attempts Tuesday, his oxygen mask tube broke loose in the fume-choked cockpit behind the roaring four engines of his racer, Challenger I. Thompson drove the car with an oxygen tube in his mouth in order to prevent being overcome by the fumes. Earlier in the week his car skidded off the course and sustained some dents. Thompson was deeply discouraged Tuesday night when high winds and rain forced him to cancel an attempt on the world's top automobile speed of 394.2 m.p.h. set here in 1947 by Cobb.

In two earlier runs Tuesday, Thompson set the following international marks which must be confirmed by the International Automobile Federation.

For the flying five-kilometer, 351.95 m.p.h., compared to Cobb's 326.7; he flying five-mile at 342.54 compared to Cobb's 302; he flying 10-kilometer at 325.65 compared to the Englishman's 283.0; and the flying 10-mile at 282.72 compared to the old mark of 270.4.

Browns, Giants To Tangle Sunday

CLEVELAND (AP)—The New York Giants, here Sunday in the Cleveland Browns' first home game, are pretty much the same club that whipped the Browns three times last year. But there are a few newcomers, including three rookies from Ohio.

How much action the three will see Sunday depends on whether Alex Webster, power runner for the 1958 Eastern Division champions, and Jimmy Patton, one of the National Football League's swiftest defensive backs, have recovered from injuries that kept them out of last week's loss to the Philadelphia Eagles.

The Ohio rookies with the Giants are:

Joe Morrison, 21, of Lima, who played at the University of Cincinnati and was Webster's replacement last week.

George Scott, also 21 and hailing from Bainbridge, who starred at Miami University. He, too, helped fill in for Webster.

Don Sutherin, 23, an Ohio State product from Toronto, Ohio, who worked as defensive back last week in Patton's spot and is a reserve place kicker.

The Giants have only two rookies who are non-Ohioans — Joe Biscaglia, a spare offensive end from Richmond, and Ellison Kelly, substitute offensive guard from Michigan State.

Beaver Creek Club Will Meet Thursday

The regular October meeting of the Beaver Creek Sportsman Club will be held at 8 p.m. Thursday in the club building.

President Al Wickline urges that all members attend to help plan the fall activities of the club. A report on the Family Day activities will be given, and movies will be shown by the entertainment committee.

Youngstown to Meet Baldwin Wallace

YOUNGSTOWN — After suffering their first defeat of the season Friday Youngstown University returns home this week to battle Baldwin Wallace in the traditional "Big Thursday" game.

The Penguins, playing without the services of first string right halfback Paul Ceremuga, and Tom Richards, number two left half, were defeated by a strong Northern Michigan team, 7-0, in a rain-soaked contest.

Kickoff time at Rayen Stadium Thursday is 3 p.m. Last year the locals handed the Yellow Jackets a 20-12 setback. In the series YW has won eight, lost two and tied one.

Mummert is from Alliance and Olson from Sebring. The other four are from Salem.

Softball Loop To Complete Organization

The newly formed Columbiana County Softball League will meet in the Memorial Building at 7:30 tonight to complete organization of the eight-team loop.

Six teams are already entered, and representatives from these cities will decide tonight upon the other two entries. Already in the new league are two teams from East Liverpool and one each from Salem, East Palestine, Lisbon and Belmont.

The other two entries are expected to be selected from Hanoverton, Kensington, Sebring, Lectoria, Columbiana or Salem.

Each team will play a home and home series with the other seven clubs. The league was formed three weeks ago.

Final Round of Golf Event Set This Week

Final rounds of the annual Gordon Scott Fall Golf Tournament will be played by Saturday at the Robbyn's Knoll course.

Six survivors, including four from Salem, will battle it out for the three trophies to be presented to winners in each flight.

The final rounds pit Bob Kupka against John Chester in flight one; Bill White and Dave Schuster in flight two; and Jerry Mummert and Ray Olson in flight three.

Mummert is from Alliance and Olson from Sebring. The other four are from Salem.

Quebec Is Defeated In Hockey Debut

By The Associated Press

The Cleveland Barons open their schedule tonight at Hershey.

WATERFORD PARK IMPROVED

PRESENTING FOR 1960... BUICK'S ALL-TIME BEST

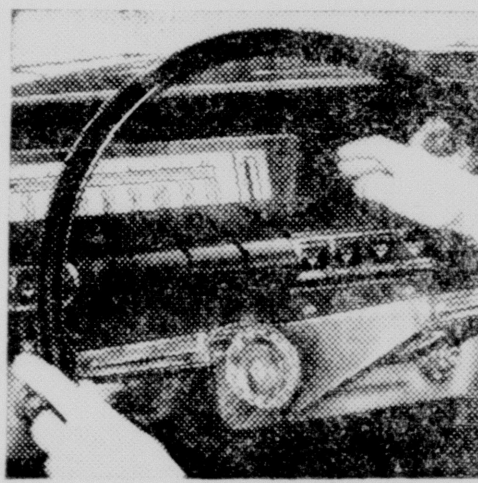

THE TURBINE DRIVE BUICK '60

A car with major advances in transmission, suspension, brakes, and engines which are Buick's alone today. A solid, substantial car • A car of superb comfort, quiet, reliability • A car you should drive soon

New comfort, quietness, and quality

Doors that open wider — easier to get in and out. Family-size interior. Seats that are higher, more deeply cushioned, and repositioned to provide more room for feet and legs. Perhaps the quietest running car in America due to Buick's high use of insulation and torque-tube drive. Buick's quality control program comes to a peak in the Turbine Drive Buick '60.

New interior decor and convenience

An entirely new "Mirromagic" instrument panel. It lets the driver see speed, gas gauge, and other necessary readings at a glance in a mirror he tilts to suit his own eye level. And a new exclusive safety option — the Twilight Sentinel* — that turns headlights on automatically at sunset... off automatically at sunrise. All-new colors and fabrics. Richer appointments. *At slight extra cost.

Outstanding performance with economy

1. Buick's Exclusive Turbine Drive Transmission* is jet-smooth, responds faster, more economically than ever. No gears ever shift while the car is in motion. 2. Buick's Exclusive Air-Flo Aluminum Drum Brakes — found on no other American car. Fin-cooled drums front and rear for faster cooling. Fast cooling means safer stopping, longer brake life.

Slotted wheels pass a current of air from under the car constantly over the brakes for added cooling efficiency. (Wheels are 15" size which gives you up to 1/3 more tire life.) 3. Buick's exclusive Wildcat Engines give high efficiency with high economy. (An optional new LeSabre Engine is designed to give Buick performance on regular grade fuel.) *Optional at extra cost on LeSabre, Wildcat and Electra.

On the Bookshelves

Listing of New Books at Salem Public Library

Many persons have wished to escape the rigors of civilization by going to live with the natives on a South Sea island or in the wild jungles of Africa or South America. Few persons can achieve their wish but Alfred Boeldeke not only satisfied his great desire to live with natives in the South American jungle, he took his wife and small child along. Their adventures are recorded in "With Graciela to the Headhunters" and you may want to check their experiences before you set about implementing your desire to leave civilization behind.

FICTION
"Target: Mike Shayne" by Brett Halliday. Mike's latest adventure involves a mysterious adversary who follows his every move and whose aim is murder.

"Red Rose for Maria" by Donald Downes. Jules Dillman meets Maria, a school teacher who hates men and war, while on an espionage assignment in Italy during the war. The espionage plot is interwoven with the complex love story of these two neurotic people.

"Waiting for Love" by Venetia Murray. The romance between a fifteen year old girl and a man of thirty-one. The author captures the wonder and eagerness of being in love for the first time, and the snatching pain that comes with the realization that the love is all on one side.

"Have His Carcase" by D. L. Sayers. A reissue of an early Lord Peter Wimsey mystery that proves again that Dorothy Sayers ranks at the top of the list of great mystery writers.

"Mi Amigo" by W. R. Burnett. A fast paced tale of three men in the old west: 19 year old Bud was a potential badman; Sgt. Desportes of the cavalry, who tried to befriend him; and Blackpony, an Apache warrior.

"Not Me, Inspector" by Helen Reilly. Inspector McKee investigates the charges of logery and murder that followed Harvey Albert's disappearance, while Hugh Clavering does his best to reassure Harvey's wife.

"Cool World" by Warren Miller. A grim and horrifying story of a Negro boy growing up in the tenement section of Harlem. Although the tale is lightened by occasional humorous episodes, the overall impression is one of hopelessness and despair.

"Seven Steps East" by Ben

Benson. State Trooper Ralph Lindsey becomes involved in the murder of a friend who has been investigating gambling activities at a nearby resort. The only clue is a description of a mysterious stranger who can change the color of his eyes.

"Big X" by Hugh Searls. A test pilot who makes experimental flights into the ionosphere are vital to the space program must decide whether to save himself or to perform a heroic action.

"Bride of Pilate" by Esther Kellner. Claudia, once an exile from Rome, was brought back and grew up in that frightening city, befriended by Decimas, an outlaw. She is forced into a loveless marriage with Pontius Pilate, but Decimas leads her to a new hope.

NON-FICTION
"Twenty Years of Public Housing" by R. M. Fisher. A survey of housing developments since the U. S. Housing Act of 1937, evaluating the effects of the Federal low-rent housing program. The author claims that this act has eliminated much below-standard housing and provided adequate homes for low-income families.

"How to Finance a College Education" by Bradford Craig. Suggestions of various ways of paying college expenses: earning the money, loans, savings plans, and scholarships in colleges, junior colleges, and universities. Plan now and your child can go later.

"Organizing & Directing Children's Choirs" by M. D. Ingram. The book is divided for use with primary, junior, and junior-high age groups. Different methods are suggested for teaching each age group. The appendix which contains services for special days and occasions will be especially helpful.

"Peter Stuyvesant and His New York" by Rachlis and Kessler. The story of the first governor of New York and the problems of his frontier city. The author utilizes a novel approach to present a well researched study.

"Your Mind Can Make Sick or Well" by C. S. Wachel. The author is a physician and psychiatrist. He suggests ways to make your mind work for you rather than against you by approaching problems realistically.

"American Shakespeare Festival Theater" by Houseman and Landau. A history of the five years of the Shakespearean theater at Stratford, Connecticut. The project has become successful both financially and artistically.

"Steps in Time" by Fred Astaire. One of the greatest dancers tells his life story with charm and candor. He pictures his triumphs in movies, on Broadway, and in television, and tells of the sorrows that have plagued his years.

"A Neighborhood Finds Itself" by J. H. Abrahamson. The former director of the Hyde Park-Kenwood Conference in Chicago tells the story of the successful urban renewal project on Chicago's South Side. She gives the background on the problems faced and conquered in building an interracial community.

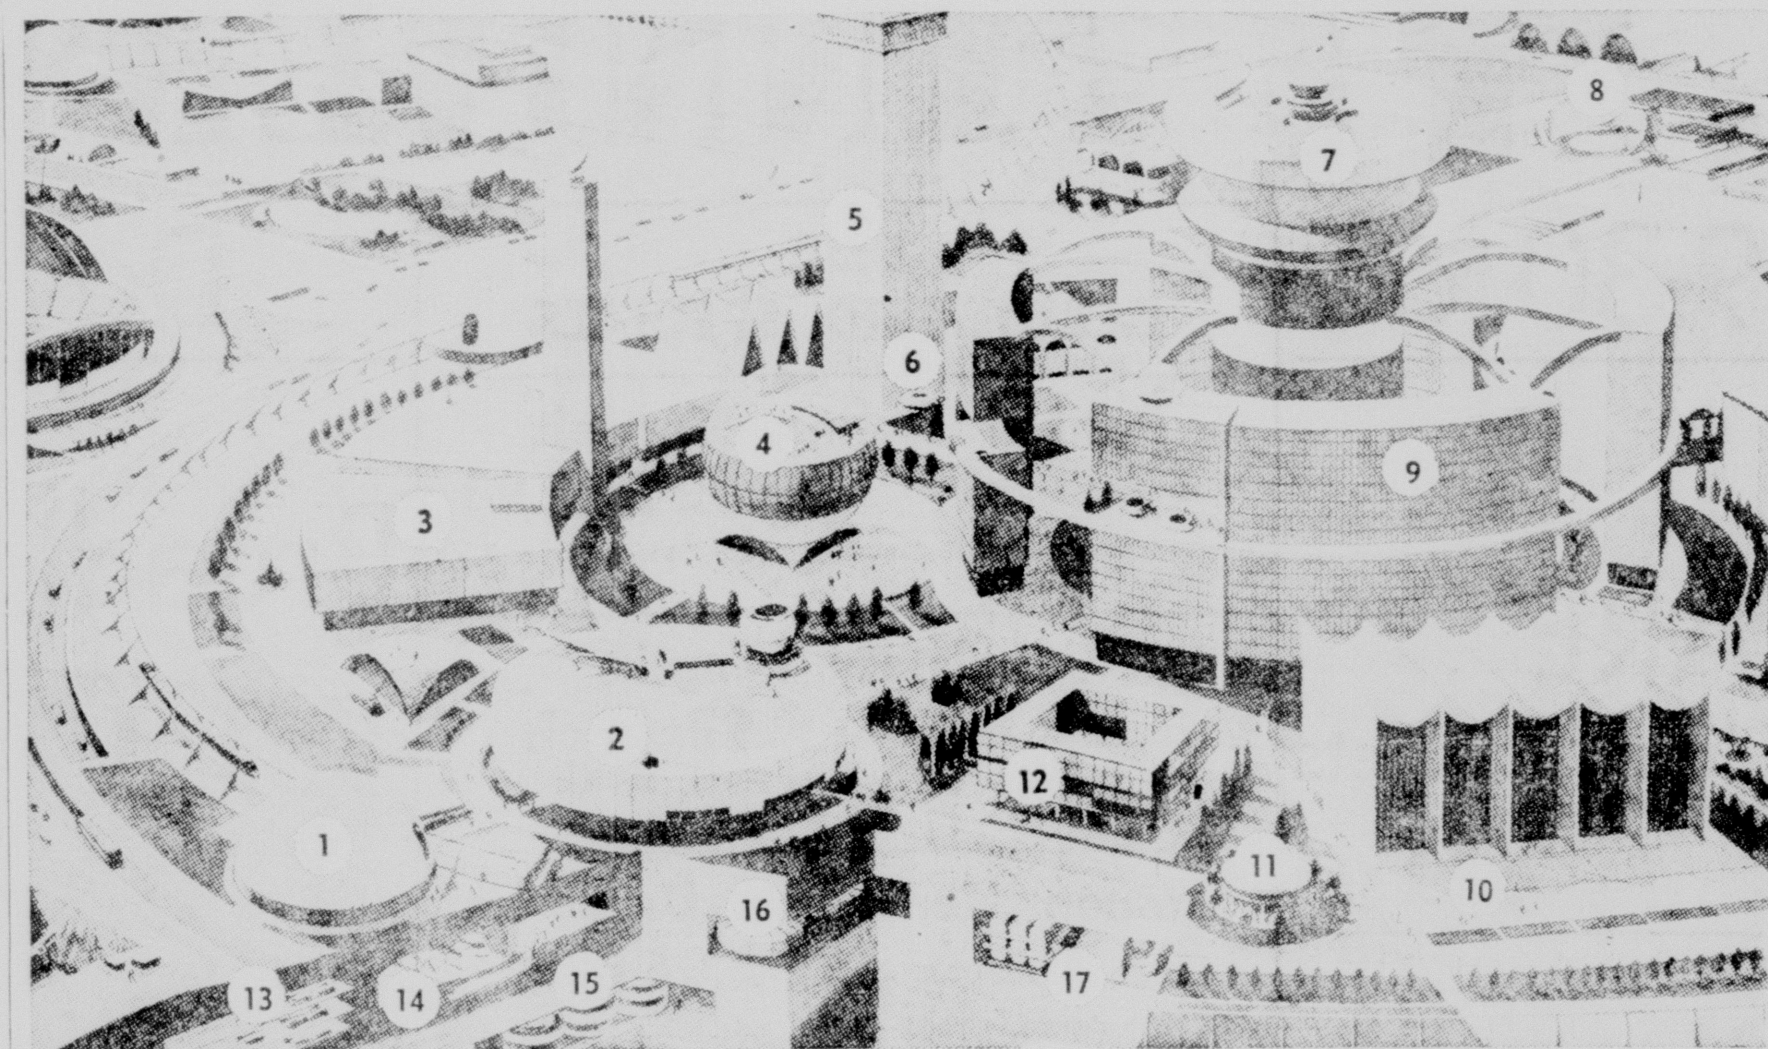

"John D. Rockefeller" by Allan Nevins. Originally published in two volumes with the title "Study in Power", this edition has been condensed and partially rewritten. The study of the founder of the Standard Oil empire is biography at its best.

"Kiplinger's Family Buying Guide" edited by A. B. Barach. The editor of "Changing Times" suggests ways to spend money sensibly. He explains phony promotions, gimmicks, and how to spot a real bargain. Entire chapters are devoted to choosing doctors, lawyers, TV repairmen, etc.

The City of 2000 A.D.: From Urban Blight to Beautiful Living---

The City of the Year 2000 pictured below is no mere science-fiction. New discoveries in science and technology make most of its features possible today — and the demands of an ever-expanding population will make such cities inevitable and necessary within the 40 years remaining in the 20th century. This possible version of the City of Tomorrow was envisioned by This Earth, official publication of Permanente Cement Co. Its mass of glass, concrete and metal is beautifully functional and is designed around expected advances in construction, transportation, communication and, above all, man's growing awareness of the people around him. In this latter sense, the City of Tomorrow is being built today by us all.

Specialist Says Railway Merger May Take Jobs

WASHINGTON (AP)—A specialist in railway operations says 1,632 persons would lose their jobs if the Interstate Commerce Commission permits the Erie and Lackawanna to merge into the nation's 12th largest railroad.

But railroad consultant William Weyer, of Upper Montclair, N. J., said all could be re-absorbed by the merged railroad within five years if they agreed to work in some other city.

Some 863 employees of both railroads have refused transfers to other cities, he added.

Weyer made the statements Monday under cross-examination during an ICC hearing into the proposed merger.

The breakdown from Weyer on the number of jobs to be abolished in the merger was requested by William Mahoney, attorney for the Railway Labor Executives Assn., who said his group wants assurance that dismissed employees will be protected financially.

Under earlier ICC decisions, an employee who loses his job because of a merger and is unable to find another could receive full pay for up to four years if the ICC finds sufficient hardship is involved.

Weyer also testified that railroads now feeding freight into the Lackawanna would probably divert $5,717,802 worth of business annually to other railroads in retaliation for business they would lose as a result of the merger.

He said, however, that as a merged railroad the Lackawanna and Erie would retain almost seven million dollars worth of business now interchanged with other railroads.

The Nickel Plate, Wabash and Lehigh Valley railroads are protesting the merger in New York Central, although not a protestant, has intervened in the case.

Questions, Answers on Savings Bonds

The recent increase in interest rates on U. S. Savings Bonds has occasioned questions from readers about the effects of the change. Following are the most frequently asked questions, with the answers, as supplied by the U. S. Treasury Department:

Q. Has the interest rate been raised on U. S. Savings Bonds and if so, how much?

A. Yes, interest rates on Series E and H Savings Bonds sold since June 1, 1959, have been increased to 3 1/2 per cent.

Q. Does this new interest rate apply to all of my old bonds?

A. Yes, interest has been increased to at least 1/2 per cent on all E and H bonds sold prior to June 1, 1959.

Q. Is there anything I must do to receive this increase in interest on my old bonds?

A. No. The increase is automatic and is effective June 1, 1959.

Q. Are the E bonds I bought during World War II still drawing interest?

A. Definitely Yes. All E bonds purchased before April 1957 were automatically extended an additional 10 years. The new law grants a second 10-year extension for those bonds which are not over 10 years old.

Q. Will there be any advantage to cashing in my old bonds to buy the new?

A. No, since the increased interest rate applies to old bonds as well as new, in practically every instance, it is to the advantage of those who already hold Savings Bonds to retain them.

Q. I have purchased Series E bonds since June 1, 1959, but they do not say anything about the new 3 1/2 per cent interest rate.

A. As a money savings measure the Treasury Department will use all old bond stock. You can be sure that if your bond carries an issue date of June 1, 1959 or later the new interest rate will apply.

Q. Does a $25 E bond still cost $18.75?

A. Yes, it does. The denominations and issue costs have not changed.

Q. Well, then, how do I receive my increase in interest?

A. Increased interest is due to the fact that the life of the Series E bond has been reduced to 7 years and 9 months. You not only get a higher rate of interest but you get it faster.

Q. My parents now hold Series H bonds. Does this rate apply to the H bonds also?

A. Yes, it does. The interest increase will be reflected in higher semi-annual interest checks.

Q. Does the Series H bond carry an extension privilege such as the E bond?

A. Yes, it does. All H bonds have now been extended for an additional 20 years.
